FARE FAILED TO AFFECT CONFERENCE ATTENDANCE

Despite the heavy increase in railroad fares, the attendance at the ninety-first semi-annual conference of the Latter-day Saints church from outside Salt Lake City and county was fully up to the average. This is the view of William C. Spencer, transportation agent of the church. The high fares probably cut down the attendance from Canada, remote parts of Arizona, California and Wyoming," says Spencer, "but from the towns in Utah and Idaho I believe that it was heavier than usual."

Exceptionally good weather and good crops are assigned by the church officials as being two factors contributing to the crowds. Neither the bureau of information nor the church officials have any record of the number of conference visitors who came by motor, but it is generally believed that good roads and the steadily increasing purchase of automobiles by all classes aided in no small degree to augment the influx of visitors.

American farmers planted fourteen hundred acres to hemp in 1920, according to the United States department of agriculture. The crop is valued at about $1,500,000.

PURELY PERSONAL
PRICE AND NEARBY

—District Attorney Oliver K. Clay is in Castle Dale this week attending court.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Nilsen, of Hiawatha, were Wednesday visitors in the county seat.

—Mrs. Maggie Morrow of Drexel, Mo., is visiting with her nephews, the Verden brothers, at Price.

—Mrs. Dottie Ferguson Peterson has moved from Price to Provo to make her home temporarily in that city.

—Mrs. E. F. Chamberlain left the first of the week for Salt Lake City for a visit with friends and relatives.

—R. E. Connor, A. Wells and A. Gilbert, all of Scofield, were Price visitors this week. They stopped at the Savoy.

—Verro C. Jones of Watila was a visitor in Price yesterday. That camp is working well with a large output of coal.

—J. W. Lounsbury went out to the Nine Mile country last Wednesday to try his luck at the opening of the deer season.

—P. T. Tilton and A. A. Verdell of Hiawatha had business at the county seat this week. They made the Savoy home while here.

—Dr. and Mrs. C. E. McDermid and the ladies were down from Castle Gate on Monday last. Their new son, says the doctor, is some boy.

—J. E. Holmes, representative in the legislature and a candidate for reelection, was in Price yesterday. Little is known at camp as to when No. 2 mine will open.

—Frank Cutrell, republican candidate for sheriff, was at the Savoy in Price Sunday last. His home is at Clear Creek, where he is employed by the coal company.

—Henry Parnley, in the employ of the state geological department, was at the Savoy Wednesday last. He visited several of the coal properties hereabouts while in this section.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Archer got back to Hiawatha last Saturday from a trip of several weeks by automobile through the Northwest. They spent considerable of the time in Oregon.

—Prof. R. E. Dickinson, principal of the public schools at Stansbury, was a visitor in this city last Saturday. He finds his work there this year most pleasant. The schools are doing nicely.

—William Edman, the nominee for county commissioner from Castle Gate, was down from that camp last Wednesday attending with his democratic friends and others at the county seat.

—W. N. Wetzel, the general superintendent and Chief Clerk, Glenay of the Carbon Fuel company at Blanding, were Monday evening visitors in Price. They were accompanied by Dr. P. E. Estes, now located at Latona.

—E. V. Tucker, a special agent for the Denver and Rio Grande and former resident of Blanding, was down from Zion Sunday last and Saturday at the Savoy. Little thinking, he states, is going on along the line at this time.

—Dr. Ernest Glonetti is spending a short vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Glonetti, at Helper. He is attending medical college at St. Louis, Mo. For several days he has been looking after the practice of Dr. P. R. Hopewell while the latter was at Zion.

—Dilworth, Woolley, the nominee for district attorney in the Seventy, was here from Miami during the week setting acquainted with realtors and others and looking after his political fences in general. He stopped at the Savoy a couple of days.

—J. E. O'Hara, who is boring for oil out near Moffat on the Utah reservation, was a Savoy guest two or three days this week. His company is doing some substantial work. W. H. Donaldson, former Carbon county clerk and recorder, is with him and is also interested financially.

—M. P. Bradford, who recently left Utah to become general attorney for the Lyngor Specialty company back in Chicago, is expected in Price the first of the week to be in attendance upon district court. He was in New York City and Washington, D. C., most of last week and the week before.

—Mrs. Owen Williams of Cleveland has recently returned from standard time, where she was called to the last side of her daughter, Miss Carolyn, who had spent the summer here. She was suffering from a nervous breakdown. She returned home with her mother and is now rapidly improving.

—Castle Dale Progress, etc.

—Mr. and Mrs. John L. Newey of Fairview entertained at dinner Saturday night, October 23, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Tucker. The evening was spent in social chat and dancing, after which a dinner was served to about thirty-five Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will make their home at Clear Creek during the coming winter. Mr. Pleasant Bryant, etc.

—A. P. Wells, a substantial citizen of Blanderville, was in Price from that camp last Saturday. The mine has all kinds of orders for coal, he states, but there is a scarcity of rail road cars there as elsewhere. The properties of the Blanderville Coal & Lumber Co. are much better with the completion of the Utah Terminal, now building out from the Utah railway just south of Helper.

—J. D. McKone, manager of the McKone sawmill and other interests out in the Utah Indian country, left for home last Saturday after setting here a few days on business matters with his brother, Robert McKone. He was accompanied home by his two daughters and his son. The friends of McKone locally hope it will not be another season before he will be on the trail again in the direction of Price.

—Assistant Attorney General Dally of Zion was a guest of the Savoy this week, going and coming from Castle Dale. He had matters in the district court there.

—Frank Black, working in the Clear Creek mine of the Utah Fuel company, was instantly killed last Wednesday when a piece of coal fell off the side of a place where he was working.

—State Senator William T. Lamm is said to be a very sick man at his home in Cleveland.

But two more registration days for the coming November election—October 24th and 27th.

Mike Laufen is no longer connected with the Athens Hotel. He now is located at Thompsons.

Numerous cases of measles have appeared the past week at Price. They are of mild form so far.

October 24th and 27th are the remaining registration dates for the general election next month.

M. P. Bergers has moved back to Helper with his family after selling his residence property at Price.

Vic Ungerman has started a daily over near Hiawatha and catered to the inhabitants of that camp especially.

Louis Hill has given up the Carbon Hotel and has gone to Salt Lake City, where he will likely engage in business.

Helper Knights of Pythias lodge has filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk at Price. The trustees are J. E. Gense, C. Bertolini and D. Bergers.

K. Berger, formerly general superintendent of the Utah lines of the Denver and Rio Grande, has been made general manager of the Denver, Colo., railway lines.

Johnny Olson, who has a big farm over on Miller Creek, lost a lot of hay a few days ago by fire. It was worth about eighteen hundred dollars with twelve hundred in insurance.

George Brontos, a postmill owner at Helper, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. He gives his liabilities as $111.45 and assets of twenty-five dollars. The latter are exempt.

A. W. Black, contractor for the addition to the high school dormitories at Price, has turned over the building to the school board. It was completed two weeks ahead of contract.

It would be well for those who expect to vote at the coming general election to see that their names are on the registration books. But two more days for registration, October 24th and 27th.

J. H. Ellis, district road engineer at Price, has requested to the state road commission that the road over Soldier Creek be paved. This road crosses Soldier Creek between this city and Blanding, and is in the middle of the road is unsafe and in need of repair at once is advised.

Carbon county, the state and the district school authorities are looking for the right kind of a man for principal of the local school. He must be a good teacher, a good citizen and a good salary. Disqualification exists with the present incumbent.

Edna H. Young, Jr., is a newcomer to the county seat. She has been since last Tuesday evening. She was met on her arrival by Dr. P. E. Chamberlain, who declared him to be the image of his father and a strapping young fellow for one of his age.

Rev. Ralph C. Jones, pastor of the Methodist church at Price, is preaching a series of sermons on "The Universal Note in Christianity." Mrs. C. N. Orr of Hiawatha will sing at the services next Sunday forenoon. The public is cordially invited.

An examination for postmaster up at Soldier Summit is to be held at Price on November 12th, next. The office paid last year five hundred and fifty-seven dollars. Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the office for which the examination is announced.

Arthur J. Lee of Price has been appointed receiver for Thomas Moffat, merchant at Helper, and proprietor of the Union Store there. Radio is mixed up in blackhand matters at the railroad town and at present is in the county jail at Price. The business will not pay out.

Congressman James B. Maize and Hon. W. H. Wilcox are invited to give speeches at a democratic rally at Hiawatha this (Friday) evening. Several of the candidates for county offices and Chairman Neil M. Madson of the county committee will accompany the distinguished visitors.

Danforth-McCoy company, recently opening up in business here at Price, has sold over forty piano players during the last two weeks. The cash has been such that extra help had to be brought here from Zion. The local house is one that is a pleasure to do business with.

There will be a meeting of the American Legion post of Price next Wednesday evening, October 20th, to close on the late carnival affairs. The report of the carnival committee will be presented and the collecting committee charged up. All members of the legion at Price are requested to be present.

Data on the stream line and up-ramp of the entire western coast of the Washington coast will be completed within the next two weeks, according to E. W. Trimble, a topographical engineer of the United States geological survey, who has been in charge of the work carried on during the last several months.

Although his car turned out completely unserviceable when it passed the Midland trail up near Soldier Summit before daylight last Monday morning, Charles Peterson, the driver, received only superficial cuts and bruises and was in charge of the driving of a car during the day. When the car left the road there is an embankment seventy-five feet high. It rolled to the ravine below.

Petition for the reclassification of Castle Dale as a city of the third class has been filed with the secretary of state, with the request that it be taken to the legislature.

The population of the city is seven hundred and the number of petitioners is a hundred and ten. Publication of the petition setting forth these facts was begun last Tuesday, and at the end of thirty days' publication the city will become one of the third class.

On pages two and seven of this issue of The Sun appears the official list of nominations of the four parties having tickets in the field for the November 23 general election. The publication is required under the state election laws and is as near a final statement of the matter as it is possible to reproduce. There will be plenty of sample ballots for the information and use of voters previous to election day, these being supplied by the democratic and the republican organizations.

The Sun this week had word from E. Rantsch, Sr., at Ocean Park, Calif., saying his trip to the coast has proven most beneficial to his health, and that he has improved every day since leaving Hiawatha. Mrs. Rantsch is expecting the trip very much, too. They were this week at San Diego, arriving there last Monday, and after visiting one or two other places expect to return home. Rantsch is the republican

THREATENED KIDNAPING OF EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The C. I. B. of London today was faced with perhaps the most serious industrial crisis in its history, due to the decision of the coal miners to allow the strike to continue to be a come effective Saturday, following their rejection of the offer of a promise offered to their demand for two shillings per shift increase in wages. It seemed very likely that, unless the government or the mine owners conceded the demands of the men, or made fresh and attractive offers, more than eight hundred thousand miners would not return to the pits Monday. Threats of thousands of thousands of work in other industries out of work and causing a virtual stagnation in the economic life of the country.

The official figures of the last week taken by the ministry to double the output of production of the coal mines, which would be granted, was given out today. For September, 1920, the output was 4,233,000 tons. This made a monthly average of 141,100 tons. It was needed to meet the result of the strike and the government's decision to prevent a coal shortage.

State Game and Fish Commissioner Midway announces the opening of the deer season today, Friday, October 16th, and continuing for two weeks. He emphasizes the fact, however, that "hunt with horns" for each person, those and fawns are protected by law. Bids were made for hunters near some markets, such as a red fox, a blue cloth on their hat, as a certain measure against poaching. He also announced an open season for adolescents for Utah county, only from October 15th to October 21st.

Richard E. Sherr, a Price young man and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherr, met with an automobile mishap out at Sacramento, Calif., October 12th, and was in a hospital. He was with others from Matine Field were going in to the city to a dance when their car was run into by a street car. Latters from Red Cross officers to the father are his injuries are quite serious, though not necessarily fatal. The young man is with Uncle Sam's air service, having enlisted in Utah several months ago.

Utah Federation of Women's club closed a very successful season of three days at Ogden last Wednesday. Mrs. H. W. Cooper of Price is one of the vice presidents chosen for the year by virtue of her being a district organization president. Mrs. Thomas Fouts is on the board of directors for two years. The next meeting of the federation is likely to come to Price, an invitation having been extended. The board of directors decided this matter. Mrs. A. D. McLean read a report from the civic club at Price.

Withdrawal of federal aid from all earth highways was announced at the meeting of the state road commission last Wednesday in a letter from R. J. Finch of Ogden, district engineer of the United States bureau of public roads. Finch forwarded a letter from Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau, to his district engineers, to this effect. Contracts were awarded to Carl Wilberg of Castle Dale for a bridge over the Blue Cut canal at a cost of $1245.00. Fernon Wash culvert at $4250.27 and Koshien Wash bridge at $1988.49. These are on the Price to Emery road.

William G. Madson, democratic county chairman, is this week in receipt from William G. Madson, former secretary of the treasury, director general of railroads and prominently mentioned previous to the national convention as the democratic candidate for the presidency, a bronze medallion of the gentleman himself enclosed in a plain case. It is a handsome thing and is very highly prized by the local chairman.

Irvine C. Harrison and Miss Anna Bryan, during a big surprise on their many friends this week when they went to Price, where they were joined in marriage, says Mrs. Thos. Madson, president of the M. Thos. are expected to return today or tomorrow and will make their home here. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. M. Alford, and has resided here for several years. She has taken a leading part in social events as well as war service work, being the secretary of the home service branch of the Red Cross. She is very popular among local people. The groom is the son of Peter C. Harrison, local blacksmith, and is well and favorably known here.

When Your Car Bucks

It is not always the fault of your car, but more often of neglect or abuse. The best engine made will not run smoothly forever. It will wear out of adjustment unless given proper care. If neglected or abused, either through indifference or ignorance, you must expect trouble, for you will surely have it.

If you are not thoroughly conversant with the mechanism of your car your wisest course is to see us. A very few dollars spent now may save many times the amount later. See us for these new tires and accessories. We have them.
